

Beqa Lagoon Resort Fiji Islands February 2012

Your tropical dream vacation... warm, turquoise water, swaying palms, sunny days, balmy nights, relaxation, fine dining, romance, adventure and the wonderful hospitality and culture of the local Fijians.

Nestled in the heart of the South Pacific lies the secluded Fiji island paradise of Beqa (pronounced Benga). Surrounded by one of the world's largest and most spectacular barriers reefs, Beqa is rich and untouched. Only six square miles, the Island has no roads or towns - just a few isolated villages scattered around the perimeter.

The resorts features private air-conditioned villas (called bures) spread out beneath the lush tropical landscape. Each of these generously sized mini-suites are beautifully appointed with traditional island décor. Beachfront bures grace the shoreline, each with their own private courtyard, large sundeck and cool plunge pool. Six charming bures surround the koi pond and three very private bures are tucked away in the garden.

Enjoy fine dining with a magnificent range of taste sensations including fresh local fish and vegetables, New Zealand lamb, Australian beef and incredible desserts. There are plenty of choices for quenching your thirst – imported wines, Fijian beer, juices and spring water.
